Attending an AATE Conference

First Time Attendee:

The First Time Attendee Initiative is for people who have never been to one of our national conferences. We invite First Time Attendees to attend the 33rd AATE National Conference in Phoenix, AZ at a discounted rate of $195.

Sessions:

AATE offers over a 80 sessions that do not require extra registration or pre-sign up. You choose and attend whichever sessions you would like to within the session block offerings.

Master Classes:

Master Classes are three-hour workshops on a particular topic that have an additional cost of $50. Master Classes do run along side session blocks, where the sessions being offered are at no additional cost as they are part of your registration.

Excursions:

Are outings in the host city that all have varying additional costs associated with them.

Pre-Conference:

Are a half day to full day session focused on a particular topic. These occur prior to the official Conference start and are an additional cost and require pre-registration.

Food:

We have light bites at receptions throughout the Conference. And will serve boxed lunches at the Annual Meeting if you wish to attend.

Transportation:

We will have bus service for most off site events. If you wish to travel on your own, please feel free to take an Uber, Lyft, taxi, or light rail at your own expense.

Dress Code:

Dress code is casual. You will want to wear clothes you are comfortable in and can move easily in if you attend any movement workshops. There are not any events that really call for dressing up, unless you would just like to.
