

We're Opening Our Digital Library.

During this challenging time, TRW embraces our global theatre community with the knowledge that together we will come through this stronger and more united. And the centerpiece of our theatre community is you. The directors who select the next professional, amateur, or school musicals, actors, musicians, stage managers, designers, selection committees and audiences. YOU.

TRW is pleased to offer, at no cost, our entire digital script perusal library. Every title, every show is now available to you free of charge.

We are thrilled to make our 100+ title script library available to read and hear for free. Just fill-out the very short form and click submit and you will be immediately re-directed to a link. There you can select your titles, or whole collections of titles from every category; Broadway to Young@Part® junior shows, for your personal use.

Simply click below to fill-out a super-brief form and you'll be instantly admitted to the digital library.
